

In this context illumination is carried to a realm that also means illumination.
The quotes of Whitman's writings on presidents illustrate literally my own word on this subject and provide another dimension to my efforts of the last fifty years.

In a similar fashion the valuable collaboration of participating artists and writers complements an oeuvre, which is now the work of us all and this precisely is my goal

B. King