

MUSEUM OF COMPARATIVE ZOOLOGY
The Agassiz Museum

Harvard University 26 Oxford Street Cambridge Massachusetts 02138-2902

Edward O. Wilson
University Research Professor and
Honorary Curator in Entomology
TEL: (617) 495-2315
FAX: (617) 495-1224
e-mail: ewilson@oeb.harvard.edu

15 April 1999

Batuz
Batuz-Foundation Sachsen
Altzella/Sachsen
D-01683 Nossen
Germany

Dear Batuz:

It was a pleasure as always to see you again. As promised, I enclose herewith a position paper on the relation of science to the humanities. It is extracted from a lecture I've been giving during the past year, which in turn is extracted from my 1999 book Consilience: The Unity of Knowledge, with some new material added. You may use this in position statements of your own, supporting material at conferences, etc., noting only that it is of necessity copyrighted so that printed versions should be cleared with me first. I hope that in this and perhaps other, future ways I can assist in your crusade.

With warm regards,

Edward O. Wilson

EOW:kmb

Enc: "On Science and the Humanities," © Edward O. Wilson 1999

cc: Prof. Kenneth Keniston
Program in Science, Technology, and Society
Building E51, Room 163c
Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02139